How to Influence Decision-Making Processes about Health

View this email in your browser

EANNASO, host of the Regional Platform for Communication and Coordination for Anglophone Africa, is pleased to share a new video toolkit developed in partnership with AIDS Accountability International (AAI), with support from the International Council of AIDS Service Organizations (ICASO).

The toolkit aims to equip civil society and community groups with new skills to influence decision-making processes about health. This toolkit can be applied to a wide range of health decision-making processes, including influencing Global Fund concept note development, the writing of national strategic plans, negotiating PEPFAR country operational plans, and many more! How will you use this toolkit?

Modules will be released week-by-week through this newsletter, so stay tuned! Here's the introduction to the toolkit to pique your interest!

Warm regards from the EANNASO Secretariat and the Regional Platform Team
